TWO WOMEN IN THE CASE.

Appercet Fight Lands to an Inquiry Into Mr. Pabey's Family Affairs,

Two stylishly dressed men, who were fighting on Third avenue on Wednesday night. were arrested. They said they were James Fahey, a plumber of 3 Exchange place, Jersey City, and Frank A. Clemens, a private detec tive of 123 East 109th street. In the Yorkville court, yesterday, Fahey was sentenced to the Island for one month in default of $400 ball for his good behavior. Clemens was discharged. The latter then made a charge against Fahey for abandonment of his wife, Mrs. Annie Fahey. In the afternoon two handsomely dressed women appeared in court. One, a brunette, said that she was Mrs. Annie Fahey, and that her husband had abandoned her. "Who are you?" asked Justice Duffy of the other woman.

"My name is Mrs. Bertha Fahey," she replied, hesitatingly.

The second Mrs. Fahey said that she had lived with the defendant for several years as his wife, and was known and introduced as Mrs. Fahey. After his marriage to the other woman she had left him. She complained that Clemens, the detective, and the other Mrs. Fahey had pursued and annoyed her a number of times.

Faley had pursued and annoyed her a number of times.

Faley said he met Mrs. Annie Faley five years ago on Eighty-sixth street. They flirted, and, in that way, became acquainted. She introduced an elderly man, who, she said, was her uncle, as Andrew Jackson Parker, a wealthy powder manufacturer of Astoria. Believing that she belonged to a wealthy family, he married her. In four days he learned facts about her that induced him to leave her. One of these facts was that the wealthy powder manufacturer was not her uncle.

"I don't know whether, your wife is a good woman or not," said the Justice. "If you have made a mistake, that is your fault. You are making $25 a week, and I shall compel you to cay her $3.50 per week for her support."

The Justice also bound over the detective and Mrs. Annie Fahey to stop annoying the woman who had imagined that she was Mrs. Bertha Fahey. The prisoner was bailed.

CLIMBING POLES ON THE CITY HALL Mr. Dunn Paints Them and Makes a Dis-

very about the Goddess of Liberty. A dark, compactly built young man, who wore his short bob cost tightly buttoned to his chest, and his trousers fastened with cord about his ankles, appeared upon the roof of the City Hall at 9 o'clock yesterday morning with a paint pot in his hand. He was the rigger, Christopher Dunn, of 27 Desbrosses street, who hung the mourning on the flag-staff of the City Hall dome. His duty yesterday was to take the drapery down and paint the flagstaff. He was accompanied by an asthe flagstaff. He was accompanied by an assistant, who stayed on the roof and supplied him, by means of a pulley, with what he needed. After Dunn had unwound the strip of black from the pole and removed the black tissue wreath from the arm of the Goddess of Liberty, he tore off the sombre bands circling the dome, and tossed them to the roof. Then he rigged for himself a boatswain's chair, and ascended upon it to the top of the pole. He painted as he came down, and in an hour and twenty minutes had finished his task. He had painted the four poles on the corners of the building the day before, and his contract with the city was completed. He will receive for the work $25-$5 for each pole.

"The pole swayed a couple of feet while I was at the top," said he "but I thought nothing of that. I can tell whether a pole can safely be climbed by a very short examination. The pole is sunk ten feet in the dome, and is made of strong hickory."

Dunn said the wooden statue of the Goddess of Liberty on the dome rocks, and he thinks its fastenings are loose, and that it ought to be taken down and overhauled. He expressed the opinion to Janitor keese that a good gale would blow it over. The statue is fourteen feet high, and weighs about five hundred pounds.

Dunn also took off the drapery from the flag pole on the Fost Office, and from the eight columns in the front of the building. sistant, who stayed on the roof and supplied

Bayliss, for the recovery of his property, valued at $20,000, which, as alleged, he was induced to convey to her by trick and device. It appears from the papers in the case that Mr. Frazee, in 1858, took the defendant, who was then an orphan girl of six years, into his family, and treated her as a daughter. When is years of age she married one Jordan, from whom she subsequently procured a divorce. She then took up her residence with Mr. Frazes, who was over 70 years old, and, soon after the death of his wife in 1883, he conveyed all his property to her and moved to New Jersey. This, it is alleged, he was induced to do by the representations of the defendant and Wm. S. Bayiss, whom she subsequently married, that he was liable to arrest and imprisonment for breach of promise of marriage. A young lady to whom he had paid some slight attentions, he was told, was going to bring suit. Defendant promised to restore his property when the trouble had blown over, but now refuses to do so. LOOKING FOR MRS. LYSTER. Courts Are Distastoful to Hor, and She Bosse's Want to Toolify.

John R. Van Wormer, the general manager of the Lincoln Safe Deposit Company, under cross-examination yesterday, said that Frank E. Lyster, the electrician, under arrest on the accusation that he forged his wife's name to secure property belonging to her and on storage with the Lincoln company, had had fourteen pictures on deposit until September last, when he took them away. Mrs. Lyster placed her property on storage on May 5. He had seen both Mr. and Mrs. Lyster several times. Mrs. Lyster had written and cabled to him from London that her husband's order was times. Mrs. Lyster had written and caused to him from London that her husband's order was a forgery.

Lawyer Lewis of Coudert Bros., who represents the company, said he had not been able to find Mrs. Lyster or Mr. G. J. Schermerhorn, both important witnesses. He told Justice Weide that he had seen Mrs. Lyster at the Westminster Hotel on Friday, and she had suggested that he (Lewis) should arrange it so that her husband should commit adultery before witnesses to enable her to get a divorce. Lewis declined. On Monday, when she didn't appear in court and he found that she had left the Westminster, Lewis called at the office of Mr. Starbuck, Mrs. Lyster's lawyer. Starbuck was out of town, but Lewis was told by Lawyer Halsey in the office that Mrs. Lyster had written to Starbuck, asking him to see her at 1 Gramercy Park, where she was living under her own name.

Lewis also read a letter dated Boston, Aug. 25, from Mrs. Lyster, in which she said she could not go to court again, as the place was distasteful to her, and the newspapers had made such a fuss over the case. She did not give her address in Boston. He had tried to find Schermerhorn, but he could not, Justice Welde adjourned the examination until Wednesday to give Lewis a chance to secure the attendance of Mrs. Lyster and Mr. Schermerhorn, of Vaccination. MONTREAL, Aug. 27 .- There has been a marked abatement in the small-pox epidemic during the last few days, and there is now every indication that the worst is over, and that with careful watchfulness on the part of the sanitary officials Montreal will soon be restored to its normal healthy condition. San-guine persons, who declared that the epidemic would be stamped out in a few weeks with the vigorous crusade of vaccination, have been borne out to a great extent by the figures of yesterday and to-day, which indicate that the end is not far distant. There is still a great deal of unnecessary alarm on the part of American visitors, whose opinions are formed on the exaggerated reports that have been telegraphed to different points in the States, Yasterday a number of New Yorkors, who were coming down the St. Lawrence from Upper Canada, were about to stop at Lachine for fear of the small-nox, when they were induced to come on to Montreal by an American journalist, who knew how unfounded many of the reports were. The firsth is beginning to have a very bad effect on the hotel business, and the managers say that they have rarely known times to be so dull. The abatement of the epidemic, however, is bringing renewed hope, and the fact that to-day there were only some three new cases reported has done much to restore confidence. It is believed that the next few weeks will see the epidemic entirely checked.

Quence, Aug. 27.—Advices from St. Pacome, near the River Quelle, says that there have already been four cases of small-pox there, two of which, imported from Montreal, had a fatal termination. The other two will probably recover. The disease is of a particularly virulent type. end is not far distant. There is still a great

"The injustice of his act becomes more apparent when we reflect that the Canadian Government has never expended a dollar to build a harnor at this point. The docks are the property of private individuals, and while the Harbor Maxter may collect the fees from ships which may land at these docks, the individual owner may order their immediate removal for refusing to pay tribute to him. The Government of this country has never even hall a lighthouse to guide the mariners from Lake Huron to the River st. Clair. Canadian shipping are guided to the river by a light furnished at the expense of the Government of the United States, and no harbor dues are charged to Canadian vessels at Port n the stream, which, at Port Sarnia, is the dividing lin

WONDERS OF THE MICROSCOPE.

A Nobraska Man Thinks He has Discove That Man Has a Dual Rody.

CHICAGO, Aug. 27 .- A morning paper pubishes a special despatch from Lincoln, Neb. saying that a man in that city had discovered by scientific means that man has a dual body. He is a devout Christian, and believes that the soul of a man is a counterpart of the body it-self. He reasoned that within this body of bone and sinew was yet another body, existing in vapory form, which death alone should free, and that by a simple microscopic device the dull that by a simple microscopic device the dull sight of human eyes might penetrate the minutest particles of the air we breathe and see the soul take form and flight to the boundaries of another world. His attention was firstattracted to this, he says, by a man lying on a sofa suffering with a pain in his loot, and yet there was no foot there to suffer, the leg having been amouted nearly to the hip.

For years, he says, this incident ran through my mind, until at last I resolved upon an experiment. I procured the most powerful lenses I could find, and combleted an invention of my own, and when I had my light arranged perfectly, so I could examine the microbes of the air, I called upon a friend who had lost his arm, and explained that I wanted him to put his imaginary hand where I directed. He laughingly accompanied me to my room, and did as I desired. The moment I adjusted the glass a world of revelation broke upon me. The dual hand lay beneath my glass. I asked him to make letters with his imaginary finger. He did so, and, to his wonder and astonishment, I spelled out the sentences ha wrote. That was conclusive evidence to me, and you know the rest."
